CLASSIC COCKTAILS

Bloody Mary (VODKA, TOMATO JUICE, ORANGE JUICE, HOMEMADE BLOODY MARY MIX) 150.

Claimed to be invented by Fernand Petiot in 1921 at the Harry's New York Bar in Paris, it is supposedly named after Queen Mary I of England

Boulevardier (BOURBON, SWEET VERMOUTH, CAMPARI) 150.

Credited to Harry McElhone, the founder and proprietor of Harry's New York Bar, the cocktail is named after an American publication in Paris by Erskine Gwynne called "The Boulevardier"

Rosita (TEQUILA, APEROL, SWEET VERMOUTH, CAMPARI, AMARENA CHERRY) 150.

While the origin remains unknown, the cocktail recipe dates back to a 1988 edition of "Mr. Boston Official Bartender's Guide". It was then re-introduced by Gary Regan in his book "The Bartender's Bible", published in 1991

Clover Club (DRY GIN, RASPBERRIES, FRESH LEMON JUICE) 150.

The Clover Club is a drink that pre-dates the Prohibition era, and is named after a Philadelphia Gentlemen's Club. Published recipes for the drink appeared as early as 1917

Manhattan (AMERICAN BOURBON WHISKEY, SWEET VERMOUTH, ORANGE BITTERS) 180.

Rumored to be created in the Manhattan Club in NYC in the early 1870s in a party hosted by Winston Churchill's Mother. The success of the party made the drink fashionable and made people refer to them as 'The Manhattan cocktail'

Mint Julep (AMERICAN BOURBON WHISKEY, MINT) 170.

The cocktail dates back to as early as the 1800s, and then made popular by the Churchill Downs Racetrack in Louisville as the official drink of the Kentucky Derby since 1938

Sazerac (RYE WHISKEY, ABSINTHE, SUGAR, PEYCHAUD'S BITTERS, ORANGE PEEL) 180.

Claimed as one of the oldest American cocktails, The Sazerac was created back in 1938 for a bar in the French Quarters, New Orleans

South Side (GIN, LIME JUICE, MINT) 130.

The Southside has various versions on how it was invented, some say it was first made at the 21 Club in New York, some mentioned it being consumed in the south side of Chicago during the prohibition era, hence the name

Tommy's Margarita (TEQUILA, AGAVE NECTAR, FRESH AND DRIED LIME) 180.

Invented by Tequila legend Julio Bermejo at Tommy's Mexican Restaurant in San Francisco, California. The key difference between this recipe and its predecessors is the use of Agave Nectar instead of orange liqueur
